

THE San Diego Summer School of Archaeology is an outgrowth of the lecture courses presented in 1912 by officers of the Archaeological Institute of America, assisted by lecturers from the branch societies in Los Angeles and San Francisco and the school of American Archaeology in Santa Fe.

The success of these courses prompted the officers of the San Diego Society to establish a permanent organization devoted to the study of the historical development of subjects which depend upon archaeological research for their data, such as art, architecture, language, literature, drama, religion and philosophy.

A summer session of two weeks will be held annually under the management of the executive committee. A faculty of eminent professors and investigators will be brought each year to present the results of excavations and study in various fields of archaeological research.

Continuation courses will be conducted during the year, consisting of one meeting a month from October to May, inclusive, at which reviews, original papers and lectures will be heard. These meetings will be arranged with reference to the lecturers sent by the Archaeological Institute of America during the year.

THE SAN DIEGO SUMMER SCHOOL OF ARCHAEOLOGY JULY 20—AUGUST 2, 1913.

The work of the Schools in Athens, Rome, Jerusalem and Santa Fe, with the other activities of the Institute as shown in published reports, will afford the basis for a large part of the continuation work.

FACULTY—1913

Edgar L. Hewett, Dean,
American Archaeology

Director School of American Archaeology,
Santa Fe.

Director of Exhibits, Panama-California
Exposition.

Lewis B. Paton. - Archaeology of Palestine
Professor of Old Testament Exegesis and Criticism, Hartford Theological Seminary.
Director American School of Oriental
Research in Palestine, 1903-4.

Mitchell Carroll - Archaeology of Greece
General Secretary, Archaeological Institute of America.
Professor of Classical Philology, George
Washington University.

John P. Harrington, Archaeology of California
Ethnologist, School of American Archaeology, Santa Fe.

H. O. Welty, - - Assistant to the Dean
Principal Garfield School, San Diego

SPECIAL LECTURERS

Charles F. Lummis The Incas of Peru
Founder The Southwest Museum, Los Angeles

William E. Ritter Evolution
Director San Diego Marine Biological Station

W. F. Bliss The Franciscan Missions
Dean of the State Normal School San Diego

SYNOPSIS OF COURSES

I

ANCIENT CIVILIZATIONS OF AMERICA DIRECTOR HEWETT

The groundwork of American archaeology
Mound Builders of the Mississippi Valley
Ancient Pueblos and Cliff Dwellers of the Southwest
Aztecs, Totonacs, Tarascans and other Mexican peoples
The Maya civilization of Central America

II

THE ARCHAEOLOGICAL HISTORY OF PALESTINE PROFESSOR PATON

Palestine in the Amorite period
The Canaanite period
The early Hebrew period

Period of Assyrian supremacy
Persian and early Greek period
Graeco-Roman period
Early Christian and Arab periods
Crusading period

Sunday evening lecture, July 20, 8:00 P.M.
Central Christian Church "Jerusalem in the Time of Christ."

III

GREEK ARCHAEOLOGY AND ART PROFESSOR CARROLL

Life in the Homeric age
Dr. Schlieman's discoveries at Troy and Mycenae
Crete Origins of Greek art
The Acropolis The Parthenon
The Greek theatre Greek sculptors

Sunday evening lecture, July 27, 8:00 P.M.
First Methodist Church "The Religion of the Ancient Greeks."

IV

THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA OF YESTERDAY MR. HARRINGTON

The Indians of the lower Colorado River and adjacent territory
Life and culture Religion and mythology
The Indians of the coast of Southern California
Life and culture Religion and mythology

SAN DIEGO is one of the favorite seaside resorts of the United States. The numerous beaches—Coronado, Ocean Beach, Pacific Beach and La Jolla—are equipped with every grade of accommodations, from simple tenting and inexpensive cottages to the most elaborately appointed hotels. San Diego abounds in excellent hotels, apartment houses and cafes; the cost of living comparing favorably with cities of like size in other parts of the United States.

There are special summer railway rates to San Diego and to Tent City, which can be had by applying to local agents.

The registration fee is Ten Dollars. To members of the Archaeological Institute of America, Five Dollars. The Sunday evening lectures are open to the public.

In recognition of courtesies extended by the State Normal School of San Diego, regularly enrolled students of the Summer School in that institution will be entitled to register free of cost.

The regular sessions will be held from 2:15 to 4:00 P.M. at the Auditorium of the State Normal School, and from 8:15 to 9:15 P.M. at the lecture rooms of the Wednesday Club, corner of Sixth Street and Ivy Lane.

All inquiries should be addressed to Edgar L. Hewett, Administration Building, San Diego, California.

THE SAN DIEGO SUMMER SCHOOL OF ARCHAEOLOGY

ANNUAL SESSION
JULY 20—AUGUST 2, 1913
SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

SAN DIEGO SOCIETY
ARCHAEOLOGICAL
INSTITUTE OF AMERICA
D. C. Collier, President W. B. Thorp, Chairman,
Executive Committee
Lyman J. Gage, Vice-Pres. E. O. Tilburne, Secretary