San Diego Electric Railway Handles Exposition Crowd Without Serious Mishap.

COMFORT, MAIN ISSUE

All-Night Schedule Estab-Ilshed; Equipment Provided; Changes Announced.

The efficiency shown by the San Diego Electric Railway Company in handling the thousands upon thousands who attended the opening ceremonies of the Exposition last night was a marvel to strangers and a subject of frequent comment. It amounted to the simple delivery of the goods, or in other words a thorough preparation to meet the situation and a thorough meeting of it. This was the opinion expressed on every side last night, riot only among visitors, but among residents who are generally disposed to knock every enterprise which savors of corporation ownership.

The company had 112 cars in commission last night on account of the opening ceremonies of the Exposition, seventy-two being the regular schedule number. Forty new cars were purchased for the increased traffic expected, the last consistement having been received ten days ago.

Among the changes inaugurated in the method of operation were the park and the Laurel street loops. The park loop was down in street, over Third to F. on F to Twelfth and Twelfth to Balboa park, over the Exposition grounds. Twelve two-car trains, giving a two and a half minute service to and from the park, in addition to as many single cars as the traffic domands. The company has spent months in the park and the lawy. The route was maintained.

The company has spent months in working out the plan put into execution list night, and it the words of the patrons are to be taked as a cuide it proved an emittent success.

Twenty-eight Thousand Navy Men Of Atlantic and Pacific Fleets Coming to San Diego for Fair

VENTY-EIGHT THOUSAND officers and men of the United States navy, representing the combined commissioned and enlisted personnel of the Atlantic and Pacific battleship and cruiser fleets, submarine and torpedo boat flotillas in active service, will be guests of the city of San Diego the latter part of March.

Of this number 23,600 officers and men will come through the Panama canal from Hampton Roads to the Harbor of the Sun on the twenty-one battleships that will follow the Oregon. The remaining number of men will be on the ships that will mobilize at the port of San Diego to await the coming of the Atlantic armada and the international squadrons.

The exact number of men coming to the coast on the big fleet of war dogs was furnished by the navy department in response to a query from the general storekeeper at Mare Island, who desired to have advance information on the amount of supplies needed.

EXPOSITION CROWD SMASHES ALL RECORDS 60,000 SWARM THROUGH GATES BEFORE MIDNIGHT

ORE than fifty thousand people passed through the Ex position gates last night before 11 o'clock. Before midnight the number had reached almost sixty thousand.

Exposition attendance records were smashed before the real crowd began to arrive. Everybody turned toward the Magic City on the Hills after sundown. About 7 o'clock the crowd began to arrive. At 8 o'clock people were arriving in swarms. At 9 o'clock they took the place by storm. From that time until daylight the Isthmus and Prado were a sea of

A Great Day __January First, 1915

How many times have we read it, and said it, and thought it? Was there ever a day so looked forward to by so great a number of people—even the whole world.

Today San Diego is "put on the map." Why? Because she had an imagination. With it she saw this day—visualized it, realized it.

Today she steps into international prominence -world prominence if you please—because she was wise and energetic enough to connect up thus splendidly with perhaps the most advertised and planned-for day in a generation or a century.

For years January First, 1915, has been the day of days. Today San Diego throws the whole weight of that into attention for herself. Because of her activity she is three times as great in population as she was when the activity started.

For this great celebration she has brought together, not a museum, not things that were done yesterday, but a great concentration of things in the making.

This is a logical sequence and is fitting.

On the doorstep of a new year and a new era we may enjoy the fruition, the hope, the promise, the confidence, the inspiration resulting from imagination realized. If we use the lesson and the awakening as stepping stones to go on to greater and higher things, then this will remain a great day in our history. If not, then it shall be largely blotted out, for we will have missed our way and our opportunity, and the past is exactly what we make it by our acts of the present.

We are at the bend in the road-let the day. remain great
