

COMPOSER FETED AT EXPOSITION BY ADMIRERS

Carrie Jacobs Bond Day Observed; Reception Given Noted Visitor.

LIBRARIANS PARTICIPATE Mrs. Robert F. Garner New Hostess at Seven Counties Building.

Yesterday was Carrie Jacobs Bond Day at the Panama-California Exposition.

In honor of the composer, Mrs. L. J. Selby of the organ, close friend of Mrs. Bond, sang "My Soul" and "One Hundred Years from Now," both by Mrs. Bond.

Early in the afternoon the San Diego composer and Mrs. Selby were guests of honor at a special concert at the Seven Southern California Counties building.

At noon a luncheon was given in honor of Mrs. Bond at the Cristobal cafe, at which eighty of her friends assembled.

The table was decorated with flowers and a centerpiece which consisted of Mrs. L. L. Rowan, Mrs. Julius Wagonheim, Mrs. Ernest White and Miss Alice Klauer.

A program of Spanish dances and songs was given by the Exposition troubadours. This part of the entertainment was arranged especially for Mrs. Bond and she seemed to enjoy it.

Because many in the audience desired to see Mrs. Bond she appeared on the platform at the organ before the start of the afternoon concert.

At the reception given at the California building Mrs. Bond sang "A Perfect Day" and "The Song of the Sea," which was particularly appropriate, as all the women had considered yesterday a perfect day.

Two hundred members of the American Library Association from the New England states on their way to the annual convention, were here to attend the exposition.

Mrs. Robert F. Garner of San Bernardino is now hostess for the month of June at the Seven Southern California Counties building.

Mrs. Garner proved a exceedingly gracious hostess and the women who comprised one of the largest gatherings which ever attended a function in the blue room of the building, were loud in their praises of her entertainment.

Carrie Jacobs Bond Day brought out one of the largest crowds of music lovers who assembled on the grounds of the Exposition for a similar event.

The eastern librarians were particularly pleased at the opportunity to meet Carrie Jacobs Bond, many of them relating that it was worth the trip to San Diego for this privilege alone.

Mrs. McLean comes directly from New York and recent work in Columbia University, but was for seven years the head of Graham Hall, Minneapolis. Guests are directed to take cars No. 2 or 5, get off at First and Spruce and walk south one and one half blocks to 2070 First street.

Program of Music At Exposition Today

Following is the program for the organ recital by Dr. Humphrey J. Stewart at the Exposition this afternoon at 4 o'clock:

- "Marche en Fete" (Gizout); "Invocations" (Ganne); "Sous les Bois" (Durand); "The Bell Ringer" (Morand); "Gavotte in A Minor" (Saint-Saens); "In Moonlight" (Kleiber); "Garde Montagne" (LeFebvre-Wely).

ESHLEMAN LAUDS SAN DIEGO FAIR

Official Impressed With Horticultural Exhibit on Visit To Back Country.

"I have been for the last ten days in and around San Diego and its back country," said Lieutenant Governor John M. Eshleman, who is the guest of Col. Ed. Fletcher, yesterday. "While I have made many trips to this section, still I am always impressed anew with its charms. This time, however, had the added pleasure of visiting your Exposition."

"I know the custom is for a visitor to be polite and if he errs at all he is expected to exaggerate. But I do not class myself a visitor in San Diego, but rather as one of your very near neighbors, and therefore, entitled to speak without exaggeration. When one is in the mountains, he does not realize their height. The people of San Diego do not realize the fact that a city of less than 100,000 population has conceived and built an Eden worthy a city of half a million. They do not realize this because of their nearness to the thing accomplished. This is the way it impresses me, coming upon it for the first time, and not having seen it in the making."

"Particularly am I impressed with your horticultural exhibit and display. California is the land of fruit and flowers, and Southern California pre-eminently so. Here under our blue skies, in our golden sunshine, it is but fitting that we realize that this is the land of the world, and may be made a playground to give recreation to the people not so favored."

"Your Exposition is a credit to you without recognizing that here in San Diego you have men with a vision to conceive, and with a courage and strength to carry out great undertakings."

Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Eshleman are spending part of their time in Imperial and part at Pine Hills as Col. Fletcher's guests.

FAIR OFFICIAL KILLED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Secretary Utah Commission Victim of Crash; Details Lacking.

Louis A. Merrill, secretary of the Utah Exposition commission and agricultural expert for the Salt Lake Route, was killed in an automobile accident at Farmington, Utah, Sunday, according to advices received at the Exposition yesterday.

No particulars of the accident were given. Merrill visited the Exposition a few weeks ago and his untimely death was the topic of general regret about the fair yesterday.

Merrill was one of the most ardent boosters for the San Diego fair and had been making trips to the city in the interests of the Utah commission for two years before the opening. He was held in high regard by all and was considered responsible for the splendid exhibit of the state of Utah.

The telegram announcing the death of Merrill was received from A. G. McKenzie, a member of the Utah Exposition commission. It is probable the motor accident will be closed until after the funeral.

Gilbert Williams, who has been in charge of the Utah building since the opening of the Exposition, left yesterday for Salt Lake City Sunday because of ill health. His brother, Rex Williams, will be in San Diego within a few days to assume charge of the building until Gilbert Williams is able to resume his duties.

LECTURER URGES EXPOSITION TRIPS

Slides from San Diego Fair Scenes Shown Voluntarily Throughout East.

So impressed with the Panama-California Exposition was Willis Drummond of St. Paul, Minn., that he took pictures while in San Diego recently, which he is using on a voluntary lecture tour of the middle west. The St. Paul man obtained what have been called the best colored slides ever taken of Exposition scenes. He is showing them before hundreds of people who contemplate a visit to San Diego during the summer.

The following is a letter received from Drummond yesterday by the Exposition publicity department: "We are quitting the land of sunshine and flowers for a few months at home. We carry with us, besides our overladen grips, tender memories, amid which our visit to your wonderful fair stands out like Mars at perihelion. It is a diadem in the writer's coronet. The Exposition at San Francisco is stupendous—a thing of barbaric splendor—and probably represents the greatest achievement of man. It is to be big—too great. It tries in its immensity. The one at San Diego rests, and that is why it should be visited first—not first, as Vice President MacArthur suggests. San Francisco tells the story of the world—yours of California. Some day another people will build a bigger and better Exposition than that at the Golden Gate, but will the time come when human art can picture the story of California in more appropriate or entrancing hues than have been employed at the Harbor of the Sun? "The architectural beauty of your buildings, the loveliness of your environment, the charm of your climate, the provision made for personal comfort and the tender solicitude for your guests, the freedom from graft and excessive exactions and the wonderfully complete and complete combination to make your Exposition the mecca of every visitor to the Pacific coast during the year of our Lord, 1915."

CALIFORNIA INDIANS, THEME OF LECTURER

Packed Auditorium in New Mexico Building Listens To Dr. Kroeber.

Before an audience that filled the auditorium of the New Mexico building at the Exposition last night, Prof. A. L. Kroeber, dean of the department of anthropology of the University of California, delivered an interesting lecture on "The Indians of California."

Dr. Kroeber traced the antiquity of the Indians in this state from the mounds found along the San Francisco and San Diego bays, the antiquity was further traced by the Indian migrations. The history of the Indians was carefully traced up to modern times and the beautiful stereopticon slides portrayed the modern times, showing the physical characteristics, the religious customs, the homes, dress, family, social and communal life of the Indians of today.

Dr. Kroeber will leave shortly for New Mexico, where he will pass the summer in research work among the Zuni Indians, studying particularly the mythology and relationships of the tribe.

ALAMEDA, SANTA CLARA TO HAVE DAY AT FAIR

1000 Pounds of Cherries to Be Distributed at Exposition Saturday.

Saturday will be Alameda and Santa Clara's day at the Panama-California Exposition. John C. Hayes, representing Alameda county, and G. L. Tarleton, representing Santa Clara county, will be the free distributors of 1000 pounds of cherries at the building. These counties lead all California in cherry production.

ATTENDANCE LEAPS SKYWARD AT FAIR

May's Figures Pass Previous Records; 179,440 Enter Exposition.

Attendance at the San Diego Exposition for May jumped skyward. Official figures just announced show that the month's total is 179,440, the highest month since the opening. In January, thirty-two days were included, the attendance of December 31 being considered in January's total of 180,270. Eliminating the attendance of December 31, May exceeded the best year.

"The best is yet to come," Exposition directors say. This opinion is substantiated by railroad reports, which are constantly adding extra trains to their trans-continental services. The railroads declare that the heaviest travel will start early in this month and will continue throughout the summer.

May attendance gives a daily average of 5,800, the greatest daily average in a month's time since the Exposition threw open its gates. The biggest day was May 31, when 17,483 passed through the turnstiles. This does not include 2,500 who entered the grounds in the Memorial Day parade. The total attendance at the Exposition since its opening now reaches 798,440. The closing days of May brought great crowds to the Exposition the last three days sending 35,120 through the turnstiles. In the same three days the expenditures of visitors were heavy, these totaling $19,921 on the isthmus and in the buildings.

MME. TINGLEY LEAVES FOR SAN FRANCISCO FAIR

Theosophist Leader to Attend Permanent Peace Conference.

Mme. Katharine Tingley, accompanied by Mrs. W. Ross White, the latter representing the Woman's International Theosophical League, left headquarters at Point Loma, left on the noon train yesterday for San Francisco.

Mme. Tingley goes to San Francisco to participate in a series of meetings to be held simultaneously throughout the Panama-Pacific Exposition on June 4 by the International Conference of Women Workers for Permanent Peace.

In each building at the big fair next Friday a prominent woman peace advocate will address the public, and Mme. Tingley has been asked to speak to the crowds in the California building on that day. The plan is to unite one and great results are expected. This meeting next Friday will be the first in a series of popular appeals to the public. The next is to be held on July 1.

Mme. Tingley expects to return to San Diego the end of this week or early next week.

LEMONGROVE. A moonlight party as a house warming was the unique form of entertainment adopted by Miss B. C. Hunt to christen her new home, "Clovely," on Costabella Hill, Saturday evening. Buffet luncheon was served when the guests arrived, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. W. F. Hunt.

Among those who contributed to the evening's entertainment were Mrs. and Mrs. H. Williams, with reading, song and violin solo; Miss Mary L. Goss, with two readings; E. Light, an appropriate Memorial Day poem; N. Richardson, comic songs, and a congratulatory speech by R. A. Smith. The Misses Weber, pieces of the hostess, added a pleasing feature by giving several light descriptive dances in costume. Mrs. Miss Hunt delighted the guests by rendering the ghost scene from "Hamlet." Refreshments were served by Misses Louise and Isabel Nishau, Elizabeth and Ruby Cottrell, Brunhilde and Nusseldo Werber.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Nishau, Dr. Coe Little, Mrs. Leonard Coop, Miss Coop, Mr. and Mrs. Light, Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Williams of La Mesa, Mrs. S. E. Frisbie, Mrs. E. Neff of La Jolla, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Little, Dr. E. L. Hately, Miss Mary L. Goss, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Sherrick, Mr. and Miss Slocum.

Plans for the Sunday school basket picnic, to be held near Jamacha bridge Saturday, have been completed, and a day of pleasure is anticipated by the picnicers, who will leave at 8 o'clock in the morning and pass the day in the picturesque country near Sweetwater dam.

The graduation exercises of the Lemongrove school were held Monday evening in the Congregational Church, which was artistically decorated for the occasion. Musical selections and a two-act play made an enjoyable program. County Superintendent of Schools J. F. West presented diplomas to Norma Skinner, Josephine Maxwell, Emma Dietrich, May Richard, Paul Andert, Edward Moore, Henry Busch and Percy Bond.

A. L. Goodrich has purchased the Van Nostrum place on Clester avenue.

G. C. Zuckeweller of San Diego purchased from the Adams Henry Company, lot 55 of Lemongrove Park.

Ray Alford graduated from the Army and Navy Academy last week, and after passing the summer vacation in Lemongrove will enter the University of California in the fall.

Mrs. Nina Harrington, niece of Colonel and Mrs. T. J. Bryan, on plate, and a day of pleasure is anticipated by the picnicers, who will leave at 8 o'clock in the morning and pass the day in the picturesque country near Sweetwater dam.

G. C. Sumner and E. Neff of La Jolla enjoyed the week-end on board one of the yachts that sailed to La Jolla Saturday.

Dr. C. L. Good, supervisor of the Lemongrove district, returned Monday from a trip to the Laguna Torrey and has with several other men, was inspecting county road sites.

Mrs. S. Libsey, who has been ill, is reported to be improving slowly.

The next regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational Church will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.
